

More About Project ECHO™

Project ECHO is part of a worldwide movement to foster greater cooperation among caregivers; ECHO stands for “Extension for Community Healthcare Outcomes.” The movement began in 2003 at the University of New Mexico Health Science Center, now home to the ECHO Institute.

Video: How Project ECHO Works:

UTHealth School of Dentistry at Houston A Project ECHO Subhub

UTHealth offers dentist-to-dentist telementoring through new Project ECHO hub

University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center: A Project ECHO Superhub

McGovern Medical School at UTHealth: A Project ECHO Subhub