FAFSA Filing Changes

Beginning with the 2017-2018 award year, students and families may begin applying for the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) as early as October 1st of the year prior to the upcoming award year.

For example, 2017-2018 FAFSA filing will begin on October 1, 2016 rather than January 1, 2017.

Legislature has also announced students and families may apply for the 2017-2018 FAFSA using tax income data from the prior tax year. Thus, income information from the 2015 tax year will be collected for the 2017-2018 FAFSA in lieu of income from tax year 2016.

This change allows more students and families to apply using tax income that is readily available. Consequently, allowing greater utilization of the IRS Data Retrieval Tool.

Loan Origination Fee Decrease

Federal Direct Subsidized, Unsubsidized and PLUS loans carry loan origination fees that are a percentage of the total loan amount. Loan fees are withheld proportionately from each loan disbursement.

Therefore, the funds applied to your tuition account will be less than the amount you actually borrow.

During repayment, you are responsible for not only the sum you received towards your account, but the entire amount you borrowed.

Refer to the chart below for loan fees:

Loan Type	First Disbursement Date	Loan Fee
Direct Subsidized Loans & Direct Unsubsidized Loans	On or after 10/1/14 and before 10/1/15	1.073%
	On or after 10/1/15 and before 10/1/16	1.068%
Direct PLUS Loans	On or after 10/1/14 and before 10/1/15	4.292%
	On or after 10/1/15 and before 10/1/16	4.272%

Pell Grant Facts:

- 1) Free aid
- 2) Awarded to undergraduate students not having earned a Bachelor's or professional degree

Perkins Loan Update

The Federal Perkins Loan Program is a low-interest (5%) Federal student loan for undergraduate and graduate/professional students displaying exceptional financial need.

Federal Perkins Loan awards are made from a revolving loan fund. Therefore, funds are limited. As a result, funds are awarded to students based on financial need and fund availability. Currently, this loan is only offered to UTHealth students as no allocation is available for UTMDACC and UTHealth Northeast.

As of midnight September 30, 2015, the Federal Perkins Loan program expired, failing to meet the “unanimous consent” procedure required by Senate members to extend the program.

Consequently, schools can no longer make awards to new borrowers, though some current provisions are in place for persons having received at least one Perkins disbursement on or before June 30, 2015.

Veterans Shopping Sheet

The Financial Aid Shopping Sheet (Shopping Sheet) is a resource to help consumers understand educational costs and easily compare financial aid packages offered by different institutions. Offering this information to prospective students allows them to make an informed decision on where to invest in their higher education.

The Shopping Sheet is not intended to replace the financial aid Award Notification that UTHealth or any other school provides. Nor is it meant to replace your understanding of awarded aid, eligibility requirements and overall costs you will encounter.

The Shopping Sheet is a tool whereby consumers are provided financial transparency between institutions as they make a college choice.

All veterans who self-identify when applying for financial aid are provided access to this tool.
