WHY?

- Build and strengthen the bond between residents (and faculty!)
- Enhance team work
- Reinforce the fundamental concepts of professionalism and communication

"I learned the personalities of the people with whom I work every day."

"It was a thoroughly enjoyable experience."

"Spending time and interacting with my colleagues outside of work helps to develop better relationships at work."

"Pathology is a service oriented specialty and in order for us to serve other disciplines in medicine, we have to start by serving one another within the Pathology Department."

"We work better as a group when we have good relationships"

"I learned that when you put a group of doctors together and give them a task, they waste no time at all to get it done. It was nice to see how we can all work together."
