

It is with appreciation that the 2019 UT Health Educator's Fellowship Graduates acknowledge the contributive efforts of the program's faculty, Dr. Christine Ford, Dr. Peggy Huang, and Dr. Allison Ownby. Additionally we are extremely grateful to everyone involved who helped make the program a reality for those participating.

Not only have Drs. Huang and Ownby designed a relevant educational curriculum for clinicians, but the skills learned in the UT Health Educator's Fellowship Program are useful for application in research. The inspiring lectures from Drs. Huang and Ownby fostered collaboration and imparted knowledge of evidence-based education methods applicable for today's adult learners.

There were many practical and valuable lessons taught in the UT Health Educator Fellowship Program. Beginning with, learning about pedagogy and understanding ways in which transfer of knowledge can take place. In addition, we learned about writing an annotated bibliography, acquired presentation skills and, ultimately, developed a publishable project. The curriculum was critical to assisting faculty in being their best educators and will help us better prepare future generations of learners.

The class of 2019 wishes to extend its gratitude for the generous gift of education given by UT Health.

Omowunmi Aibana, MD, MPH	McGovern Medical School
Rebecca Beyda, MD, MS	McGovern Medical School
Tiffany Champagne-Langabeer, PhD	School of Biomedical Informatics
Brett Chiquet, DDS, PhD	School of Dentistry
Ashley Clark, DDS	School of Dentistry
Allison Edwards, PhD, MSN, RN, CNE	Cizik School of Nursing
Khaled Elsayes, MD	MD Anderson Cancer Center
Jillian Gunther, MD, PhD	MD Anderson Cancer Center
Jean Hsu, DO, MS, RD	McGovern Medical School
Sofia Khera, MD	McGovern Medical School
Andrew Li-Yung Hing, MD	McGovern Medical School
Katrina McBeth, MD	McGovern Medical School
Jessica Moore, DHCE	MD Anderson Cancer Center
Thy Nguyen, MD	McGovern Medical School
Sarina Piha-Paul, MD	MD Anderson Cancer Center
Deevakar Rogith, MBBS, PhD	School of Biomedical Informatics
Marilia Sly, DDS, MSD	School of Dentistry
Srikanth Sridhar, MD	McGovern Medical School
Maryam Tabrizi, DMD, MPH	School of Dentistry
Ethan Taub, DO	McGovern Medical School
Michele White DDS	School of Dentistry

-Sarina Anne Piha-Paul, MD Anderson