Research Service Centers

UTHealth encourages the development of collaborative relationships among faculty around research and academic mission-related interests. To that end, UTHealth enables academic departments, schools, and the university itself to establish fee-for-service research service centers ("RSC"), and other research facilities and services for specific purposes in pursuit of these missions. To learn more about the policies governing the development and administration of RSCs, see Development and Administration of Research Service Centers.

To download a comprehensive pdf containing information about Research Resources at UTHealth, please see our UTHealth Research Resources Brochure

Philanthropic Funding Opportunities

The Office of Development's Corporate and Foundation Relations team manages partnerships with corporations and private foundations on behalf of UTHealth Houston. Their primary focus is on securing philanthropic support by:

- Assisting UTHealth Houston leadership and faculty with donor strategy development, relationship building, and any required proposal/application processes, and
- Helping corporations and foundations achieve their mission by aligning their philanthropic giving with programs across the institution.

Reminder: Philanthropic support requires that a donor not expect goods, services, or any other benefit in return.

Office of Development – Contact Information

If you have questions about philanthropic funding opportunities or are uncertain whether a submission should route through the Office of Development or Sponsored Projects Administration, please contact:
